

Heal in the Wisdom

Official Anthem of the Kerrville Folk Festival

♩ = 160

Bobby Bridger

1. I knew a man who had it all for a while.
2. I knew a woman with no-thing at all.
3. I knew a coun-try with vi-sions that dreamed.
4. I know a peo-ple be-gin-ning to learn.

7 He was smart, rich and hand-some with a gen-u-ine smile.
With no one to catch her she had a sad fall.
All the peo-ple were e-qual, or so it all seemed.
13 It all moves to-gether, the wheel al-ways turns.

19 Ev-'ry bo-y who met him felt
But while on the bot-tom, she
But gain-ing one-ness with
And we must act swift-ly, but 25 no-thing to hide. But while still a young man with learned how to see, and to-day she is fly-ing and our fel-low man, It's so use-less not know-ing the care-ful-ly, too. And if we are hon-est and 31 so much to live for he just laid down and died. He sings teach-her bro-thers that they can be free. She sings spir-it on one-ness we share with the land. We sing learn to be-lieve, we just might con-tinue to sing

39 There is a rea-son, there is a rhyme.

There is a sea-son, there is a time.

47 There is a pur-pose, there is a plan. And
